Certificate
NOV 18 2005
of Correction

Sir:

An amendment along with a request for continued examination was filed on December 06, 2004. Claim 47, then claim 28, was amended by the amendment. As a result of the amendment, claim 47 comprises steps. Claim 47 is obviously not a method claim but an apparatus claim. An apparatus, rather than including steps, should be configured for performing the steps. Through an error of a clerical nature, the language specifying that the handheld computer is configured to perform the steps was omitted. The certificate of correction corrects this error.

The correction does not add or remove any new limitation that was not previously examined. Thus, the correction does not constitute new matter or require a re-examination.

It is respectfully requested that the Certificate of Correction be issued.

Respectfully submitted,

HICKMAN PALERMO TRUONG & BECKER,
